

Janine MacLachlan

Keynote Speaker & Workshop Designer

Janine MacLachlan helps transform executives and rising leaders into confident, savvy communicators who show up with intention and inspire action.

She equips audiences with the mindset and methods to find their voice, craft their message and deliver it with clarity and conviction.

After shaping communication strategies for global clients like P&G, Quaker and Sargento, Janine knows what sets influential communicators apart. She distills battle-tested experience into actionable tactics that participants can apply immediately.

Her approach combines lessons from journalism, neuroscience and design thinking to solve modern challenges in today's transformational workplaces.
